DEPARTMENT FOR CONTINUING EDUCATION

Modern Israel: History & Literature from the Ottoman Empire to the Oslo Accords

A series of 6 lectures by Dr Sara Yael Hirschhorn and Professor Glenda Abramson

In conjunction with the Centre for Hebrew & Jewish Studies

This course will examine the history and literature of Modern Israel from the origins of Zionism and the Jewish community in pre-state Palestine during the Ottoman Empire and British Mandate to the contemporary struggle for a resolution to the Arab-Israeli conflict at Oslo and beyond. We will explore both continuity and change over time over a tumultuous century in Israel/Palestine. The first half of the course, taught by Dr. Sara Yael Hirschhorn, will take a historical approach to state and society-building in Israel, with particular emphasis on developments since the founding of the State of Israel in 1948. The second half of the course, taught by Professor Glenda Abramson, will offer a complementary cultural perspective through her expertise in the evolution of Hebrew and Israeli literature within this historical and political context. We look forward to offering an in-depth look at one of the more interesting -- and controversial -- regions of the world today.

To be held at Rewley House,
1 Wellington Square, Oxford

Coffee / tea is provided in the Common Room before the lecture, from 6.00pm.

Individual lecture tickets are not available.
