

Professor Guy G. Stroumsa

Research Seminar on the Abrahamic Religions: Contemporary Perspectives

Hilary Term, 2010; Tuesdays, 5pm Theology Faculty, Seminar Room, 31 St Giles

19 January: Professor Nigel Biggar (Christ Church):

“Who may forgive what and when? Christian quarrels and some Jewish observations”

26 January: Dr. Johannes Zachhuber (Trinity):

“God as the Other: Current debates about negative theology in the light of the Abrahamic heritage”

2 February: Dr Joseph David (Wolfson):

“What makes the Abrahamic religions comparable? A contemporary perspective”

9 February: Professor Tariq Ramadan (Oriental Institute):

“Contemporary Islamic ethical issues”

16 February: Professor Aziz al-Azmeh (Central European University, Budapest):

“Prophets for a new century: Comments on recent biographies of Muhammad and Jesus”

23 February: Professor Marc Saperstein (Leo Baeck College, King’s College, London):

“Jews in dialogue with Christians and Muslims: Progress and pitfalls”

2 March: Professor Mark Silk (Trinity College, Hartford CT):

“From Christian to Judeo-Christian to Abrahamic: the Shibboleths of American Civil Religion”

9 March: Professor David Ford (University of Cambridge):

“Inter-Faith Theology: Beyond ‘Dabru Emet’ and ‘A Common Word’ “